Joseph L. Bruno Stadium

New 4,500-seat baseball stadium

U.W. Marx constructed the new Joseph L. Bruno Baseball Stadium for the Houston Astros Minor League affiliate under contract with the Dormitory Authority of New York State. The stadium was constructed on the campus of Hudson Valley Community College in Troy, NY.

Features of the facility include three levels of seating, 10 luxury suites, administration offices, concessions & catering, and picnic area/family fun-zone. The home team clubhouse facility includes an indoor pitching and hitting cage and has access to the dugouts through an underground tunnel.

The project also entailed constructing a new NCAA-level sports complex, including new soccer fields, tennis courts, and softball and football facilities, as well as a state-of-the-art human performance lab for use by participants in the school's athletic and intramural programs.

This Design-Build project was designed, constructed, and occupied in fifteen months, utilizing fast track design/construction phasing.
