Burdett Care Center

Renovations and alterations for new reproductive care center

U.W. Marx provided construction management services to Northeast Health for a complete gut and renovation of the existing maternity department at Samaritan Hospital in Troy for creation of the Burdett Care Center for reproductive services.

As with many of the challenging hospital renovation projects taken on by U.W. Marx, the project was completed in multiple phases (in this case, five) with the current maternity unit remaining fully functional throughout construction.

All Project Managers and Superintendents working on U.W. Marx healthcare projects have successfully completed the American Society of Healthcare Engineering Healthcare Construction Certificate Program as well as the Infection Control seminar to aid in effective and safe execution of a project of this nature. Working adjacent to operating clinical spaces requires seamless planning and execution of dust & infection control measures, planning of noise generating work, and system shut downs associated with all utility tie-ins.
