Dance Performance Building

Building rehabilitation project

U.W. Marx Construction Company provided general contracting services to SUNY Purchase College (under contract with the State University Construction Fund) for the school's Dance Building Rehabilitation Project.

The project scope of work involved a complete replacement of the skylight system, curtainwall and masonry flashing. The renovation is expected to maintain the integrity of the building, while also enhancing the structural make-up of the active dance facility.

According to SUNY Purchase's web site, "the award-winning Dance Building, designed by Gunner Birkerts, is the first facility in the United States to be constructed solely for the study and performance of dance."

PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

- Unique and culturally significant structure required special considerations
- Project conducted on active campus, with minimal disruption to student/faculty activities
