Campus Activities Center

Design-Build addition & renovations

U.W. Marx provided Design-Build services to The College of St. Rose for renovations and an addition to the school's Campus Activities Center. The project required a close working relationship with the college and the architectural firm of Glynn, Spillane and Griffing.

The project required demolition of the existing building above the campus heating plant while maintaining operability of the heating facility during the active school semester.

The scope of work included renovation of the kitchen, cafeteria, and servery. New construction included the college president's dining room and banquet facilities.

The new addition formed a connecting link between the athletic facility's pool and gymnasium and the Campus Activities Center.
